The screenshot shows the SWG Webeditor interface. At the top, there is a toolbar with various icons for editing and a 'Source' button. Below the toolbar, there are text formatting options: B (Bold), I (Italic), S (Strikethrough), T_x (Text color), and icons for bulleted and numbered lists, indenting, and alignment. Below these are dropdown menus for 'Styles' (set to 'Normal'), 'Font' (set to '48'), and color selection buttons. The main editing area is a light blue box containing the text 'Block title' followed by a red arrow pointing left and the text 'Delete the help text'. Below this, the text 'You can type here.' is visible.

The screenshot shows the SWG Webeditor interface, similar to the one above. The main editing area is a light blue box containing the text 'Replace your car with us' followed by a red arrow pointing left and the text 'Give your website a title'. Below this, the text 'You can type here.' is visible.
